

27 Meadows Whipped Shea Butter with essential oils unique formula has all natural ingredients. This amazing butter is designed to hydrate both your skin and hair.

Our Story: Growing up in cold weather with dry skin, I pretty much was aware of all of the medication and home remedies to help alleviate some of the discomfort. When I became a mom, I used some of these remedies and even tried more to help them. My oldest daughter would scratch all the time even in her sleep. Whenever she went to daycare, I sent her with a detailed regimen to take care of her skin that involved multiple applications through-out the day. As she became older, she would be embarrassed to wear short sleeve shirts. In 2011, a friend told me about shea butter & coconut oil and their moisturizing properties, so of course I tried it on all of my girls. Yet, I was not particularly excited about the fact that it was difficult to spread the hard shea butter on their skin and often would look for an easy and familiar moisturizer like lotion. After doing some more research I found out that I could whip the shea butter so it easily spread on the skin. Over the years, I have used the shea butter on my entire family's hair and skin. Next, I taught my daughters to make their own and here we are making it for others. This formula is designed with a unique combination of shea butter and coconut oil along with three multi-benefit essential oils.
